

About onPoint

We Transform Information into Influence.

We specialize in transforming leaders into high performance communicators and workplaces into high-results environments. We're dedicated to ensuring that people respond positively to you.

We realize that communication is the greatest challenge in business today. We'll help you influence your world by guiding your transformation from being informative to becoming influential. You'll accomplish much more when your communication style is refined, polished and draws others towards you.

Powerfully Unique

You've found a powerfully unique partner to help you achieve your business goals. Founded in 2000, we've spent the last decade guiding leaders at corporate giants. Prior to launching onPoint, our founder spent two decades in the broadcast television industry discovering and honing the principles you'll learn in our programs.

We can help develop your leaders, boost your sales, and build a culture of exceptional communication. We can guide you in:

We'll help you design a powerful program to accomplish your specific goals. You can choose the delivery format that's best for you:

- Executive Coaching
- Keynotes & Events
- Group Training

You can count on a positive experience with us because we live our values every day: excellence, integrity, and character. We continuously raise our bar high so that you can, too.
